Rosen Prize

History of the Rosen Prize

On October 1, 2003, the SOLE membership by a vote of 128-15 adopted the following Amendment to the Bylaws:

2. The Sherwin Rosen Prize for Outstanding Contributions in the Field of Labor Economics

To be awarded biennially, if a suitable nominee is found. The cited works for which the award is given must have been completed within twelve (12) years of one's first full-time employment after completion of graduate studies. Timing is loosely defined and is to be interpreted by the Nomination Committee. Although there is no specific requirement, in most cases part of the cited works will have appeared in the Society's journal, the Journal of Labor Economics.

Past Winners:

2004: Daron Acemoglu

2010: Robert Shimer

2008: David Autor

2012: Marianne Bertrand

The winner of the 2014 Prize will be announced during the Awards Ceremony on Friday, May 2nd.

H. Gregg Lewis
Economist
May 9, 1914 • January 25, 1992

H. Gregg Lewis Prize

H. Gregg Lewis (1914-1992) was among the founders of modern labor economics.

As a continuing reminder of his strong interest in students and in new developments in labor economics, the Journal of Labor Economics in 1994 established the H. Gregg Lewis Prize, awarded biennially to the author(s) of the best article published in the Journal during the previous two years.

The prize consists of a $2,500 monetary award and a plaque. The winner(s) are selected by a committee appointed by the Editor-in-Chief of the Journal. The prize is awarded during a special session of the SOLE meetings in even-numbered years.

At a 1993 Memorial, students and colleagues Orley Ashenfelter, Sherwin Rosen, Richard Freeman, and Marjorie McElroy spoke about Lewis and his influence. These comments were published in the January 1994 issue of JOLE.

ECONOMICS from CHICAGO JOURNALS

JOURNAL OF Labor Economics

The first journal devoted specifically to labor economics, JOLE presents international research on issues affecting the economy as well as social and private behavior. JOLE is the official journal of the Society of Labor Economists.

JLE publishes research on the economic analysis of regulation and the behavior of regulated firms, the political economy of legislation and legislative processes, law and finance, corporate finance and governance, industrial organization, and more.

The Journal of LAW & ECONOMICS

Journal of HUMAN Capital

Developed in response to the central role human capital plays in determining the production, allocation, and distribution of economic resources and in supporting long-term economic growth, JHC is a forum for theoretical and empirical work on human capital and related public policy analyses.

The NBER Macroeconomics Annual provides a forum for important debates in contemporary macroeconomics and major developments in the theory of macroeconomic analysis and policy that include leading economists from a variety of fields.

NBER Macroeconomics Annual

Supreme Court Economic Review

Supreme Court Economic Review is an interdisciplinary series that applies world class economic and legal scholarship to the work of the Supreme Court of the United States. Contributors to SCER include renowned legal scholars, economists, and policy-makers.

A multidisciplinary journal of development economics, EDCC publishes studies that examine both determinants and effects of various dimensions of economic development and cultural change.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND CULTURAL CHANGE

Journal of Political Economy

JPE's analytical, interpretive, and empirical studies in a number of areas—including monetary theory, fiscal policy, labor economics, development, micro- and macroeconomic theory, international trade and finance, industrial organization, and social economics—are essential reading for all economists wishing to keep up with substantive new research in the discipline.
